MODERN MASTERPIECE

1680 SW MONTGOMERY DRIVE
PORTLAND, OR

Designed and built by Jeff Kovel of SkyLab architecture. His first Portland home after building Lenny Kravitz's house in Florida. Inspired by Frank Lloyd Wright the design conjoins the outdoors with the interior creating a sanctuary. A mature and flourishing bamboo garden adds to the tranquility of this modern masterpiece.

But, the views are what distinguishes this fine home from any other in Portland. If you love mountains and city lights you will not find a better home. With a full unobstructed view ranging from Mt. St. Helens to Mt. Hood and Mt. Adams off in the distance from nearly every room, your mornings will be started in a spectacular fashion.

Just minutes if that, to trendy third, downtown and the Pearl, yet has the tranquil nature of dwelling in a peaceful forest.

If working out is your jam, there is a beautifully fashioned gym complete with an infrared sauna adjacent to the main home.
